How Smart Technology Makes Cities Safer

01 Sep. 2017

Building on our 20 years of collective experiences in support to municipal governments worldwide, UN-Habitat has entered into the second phase of its Safer Cities Programme, entitled “Safer Cities 2.0” focusing on smart technology. This phase leverages on global and local partnerships as well as on innovations based on promising practices to respond to the implementation of Sustainable Development Goal 11 and the New Urban Agenda. The theme of this Urban Thinkers Campus(UTC) is ‘How Smart Technology Makes Cities Safer’, and the event will held within the framework of the Korean Smart Geospatial Expo 2017. This platform will serve as an open space for critical exchange between UN-Habitat and different Korean stakeholders on the relationship between Safer Cities and Technology.
