The EXPO represents the heart of the urban future global conference and enables participants to intensively network between the sessions. This is where funky start-ups as well as big industry leaders meet hundreds of urban decision makers.

URBAN FUTURE is the meeting place for CityChangers: people who sustainably alter the face of cities with their ideas and dedication. They learn from others' personal experiences and use them to accelerate change in their own cities and structures. Starting with 1,000 participants in Graz in 2014, the number of participants has tripled in the meantime. The forthcoming UFGC in Vienna (February 28th and March 2nd 2018) will attract the 3,000 best brains in the fields of mobility, city planning, communication and conserving resources.
