

Brussels 2018: using data to empower cities and their citizens

30 May. 2018

Learn how cities are leveraging data to provide more efficient services and boost the local economy

What is it?

The 2018 Uraia Citizenship Series "Using data to empower cities and their citizens" will be hosted by the Brussels Capital Region on 30 and 31st May 2018, in collaboration with CIRB (Computer Center for the Brussels Region), and co-organized with the International Telecommunications Union.

- Bianca Debaets, Minister of the Brussels-Capital Region in charge of Digital Transition

Methodology

The workshop will combine plenary sessions and more in-depth debates in working groups, networking opportunities as well as field visits to innovative projects from Brussels and its partners.

Deadline to register in this activity is April 30th!

For further information check the following link.