HABITAT III THEMATIC MEETING

PUBLIC SPACES

4-5 APRIL 2016

BARCELONA, SPAIN

Host Partner

Ajuntament de
Barcelona

INTRODUCTION

Accelerated urbanization was a defining characteristic for human settlements during the previous century, with urbanization projected to continue increasing during the first half of the current century. Today, approximately 55% of the global population is urban (4.7 billion individuals), and future projections estimate this will reach 66% by 2050 (6.3 billion out of 9.6 billion), thus adapting and improving how cities are shared will undoubtedly be a critical need in the coming years and decades.

The Sustainable Development Goals or SDGs were adopted in September 2015, with a specific aim in Goal 11 to “make cities and human settlements inclusive, safe, resilient and sustainable”, and this includes sub target 11.7 indicating that “by 2030, provide universal access to safe, inclusive and accessible, green and public spaces, in particular for women and children, older persons and persons with disabilities”. Public and shared spaces are emphasized because they are integral to any urban development process that aims to be inclusive, equitable and sustainable.

The Habitat III Conference, which will be held in Quito on 17-20 October, will set forth proposals on how to deal with challenges of urbanization in the next two decades through a New Urban Agenda.

Join us at the Habitat III Thematic Meeting on Public Spaces in Barcelona to participate in discussions and provide inputs to shape the New Urban Agenda for a sustainable urban future. The Meeting is part of the high-level official meetings involving a wide range of participants to debate priorities and policy recommendations in the form of a final participants' declaration. The final declaration from regional and thematic meetings is considered an official input to the Habitat III process.
